The Franklin County Grand Jury

is in session at Frankfort and the Perjury Bill is in full blast.

EVERY well regulated brokerage shop should include "Goebel Murder

Confessions" in its list of quotations.

UNDER the new order of things wherever The Courier-Journal denies a thing it is proof positive that the thing is true.

If the man who shot Senator Goebel is now in Frankfort, or in the state of Kentucky, or even in the United States, he must be a mighty poor pedestrian.

If that $100,000 boodle fund could only be utilized to reward the Chamberlain Liar, The Courier-Journal and Cincinnati Post would be neck-and-neck for first money.

TOM CAMPBELL has at last "surprised the Editor of THE LEDGER."

He has actually declared that he did not believe one of the lies printed in The Courier-Journal!

The Cynthia Lou Cablin wants the Court of Appeals, in handing down its decision in the contest case, to specify just how much majority the Republican candidates must have to entitle them to the offices. As this would make the work lighter on

CHARLEY POYNTE, THE LEDGER seconds the motion.

THOMAS COURTHOUSE CAMPBELL, in defending his course in the Berner trial at Cincinnati, sets up the claim that BERKE was almost as pure as the "beautiful snow,"—wholly guilt-less of the murder of poor old WILL-IAM KIRK; and this is part of a long story he told his subsidized sheet,

The Cincinnati Post—

"The only evidence against him was alleged confessions obtained by threats and promises. The Court should not have admitted the confessions, and the Jury took my view of that matter."

CAMPBELL is just now not quite so tender about admitting "alleged confessions obtained by threats and promises" in order to convict innocent persons; and when it is known that the Hamilton County Grand Jury indicted him for attempting to bribe

MICHAEL GABE, a man summoned to serve on the Berper Jury, it is not at all strange that that Jury took CAM-PBELL's view of the matter! It was known of all men in Cincinnati, from Columbia to Millersburg, and from Rat

Row to Chester Park, that TOM CAM-

PBELL's "strong suit" in criminal procedure was the "fixing" of Juries.

TOMMY, you are entitled to one more guess!

JUDGE JAMES ANDREW SCOTT, a

"criminal lawyer" of Frankfort, is somewhat like the unfortunate parrot.

"He talked too damned much!" In his efforts to procure a "confession" upon which Governor TAYLOR might be "tried" and in all probability he hung for the murder of GOEBEL, Mr.

SCOTT appears to have struck a knot.

He recently unfolded his plans at

Winchester to Banker WITHERSPOON and Judge FRESH, close relatives of

ACCORDING to Judge JAMES ANDREW SCOTT, the great criminal lawyer of Frankfort, it is now a race to determine which of the many "confessors" will be first to connect with that $100,000 graft fund.

WILL you cut this out? THE LEDGER predicts that Governor TAYLOR and Lieutenant-Governor MARSHALL will be compelled to step out, and that BECKHAM and CARTER will step in. Also, that every last one of the Republicans chosen to the other state offices will remain in office. Just wait and see if this isn't about correct.

THE DIRECTORS of the Board of Trade will please meet tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock. It is very important that every member be present.

The Republican State Central Committee has been called to meet in Louisville Tuesday, April 10th, to fix a time and place for holding the Republican State Convention.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Harvey Lyons hitched a strange horse to his drag, and with a view of purchasing the animal, wishing to know how he would work, loaded his drag with furniture and started out. The horse made a break for the river, and undaunted by the muddy waters of the Ohio, plunged in. The body had not been recovered at a late hour, but pieces of the furniture were rescued.

Pains in the Back.

A. B. Farrington, Contants, N. Y., says: "I was troubled several years with kidney disease and suffered severe pains in the back. I used Foley's Kidney Cure and one bottle cured me. I recommend it to my friends. It has given perfect satisfaction." J. J. Wood & Son and Armstrong & Co.

THE COMMONWEALTH.

GROOM CONFESSED.

His Attempt at Suicide Was Only a Pious to Gain the Young Lady's Affection.

Taylorville, Ky., April 3.—The marriage of Julian Wigginton to Miss J. Watson was the consummation of a little romance in which the young happy young groom played a sharp role in order to win his bride.

Last September young Wigginton was paying devoted attention to Miss Watson and brooded over the fact that his suit was not finding favor with the young lady that he thought it should. In order to work on her sympathy, he went staggering into his mother's room one day and told her he had taken poison and advised her to send for a physician and for Miss Watson. They both came promptly, and more the presence of the young lady that to the doctor's art was it due that he was speedily put upon the road to recovery. After his marriage to Miss Watson he confessed that he had not taken poison.

MINISTERS ARE DIVIDED.

Some Louisville Divines Condemn a Charge Entertained at Which Joseph Jefferson Will Speak.

Louisville, Ky., April 3.—The ministers of Louisville, with one exception, have condemned in unmeasured terms an entertainment arranged for next Sunday afternoon, when Joseph Jefferson, the actor, is to lecture for the "positive" house. The resolution has caused a division among the religious people of the city, inasmuch as the Rev. L. E. Powell, pastor of the First Christian church, one of the largest of the denomination in the south, is on the programme for a talk, as is Rabbi Moses, of the highest Jewish congregation in Louisville.

Rev. Mr. Powell said he proposed to take part in the entertainment, and he will not let the action of the ministers move him. The ministers also condemned Sunday funerals.

DESERTS HIS PARTY.

Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge May Be Called Editor-in-Chief of the Louisville Commercial.

Louisville, Ky., April 3.—Unless negotiations that have been pending for three months fail, Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge, of Lexington, ex-congressman and editor of the Morning Herald, at Lexington, will in a short time become editor-in-chief of the Louisville Commercial, the official organ of the Commercial party in Kentucky.

The statement was made semi-authoritatively that Col. Breckinridge would soon assume the editorship of the Commercial, and that he would gradually carry with it his retirement from the democratic party, which he has served for half a century.

Grafting Guns Removed.

Frankfort, Ky., April 3.—The grafting guns which have been located in the state house yard were removed and mounted inside the executive building, where the main body of the republican troops are quartered. The military officers decline to state what expected change in the situation has prompted this action.

Trustees Displaced.

Lexington, Ky., April 3.—The trustees of the state reform school are very much displeased at the action of the grand jury in reporting, as a result of its visit to the institution, that the buildings were not properly constructed and inadequate to the demands of such an institution.

Anti-Gambling Charge.

Bowling Green, Ky., April 3.—The April term of the Warren criminal court convened Monday. Judge W. E. Beale delivered a sensational charge to the grand jury. He was very bitter against gaming, Sunday liquor selling and alleged prize fights, which recently took place here.

Miners on a Strike.

Beaver Dam, Ky., April 3.—Twenty-five hundred coal miners in Mahanberg, Ohio, Butler, Union, Meigs and Webster counties went out on a strike. They have formed in regular marching order and are on their way to Earlington to convert miners at work in that district.

Packet Boat Sunk.

Paintsville, Ky., April 3.—The steamer Jennie George, owned by the Catlettsburg and Hickston Packet Co., of Catlettsburg, Ky., sank near this place with all her cargo. The boat is estimated to be worth $50,000. Thirty passengers being rescued.

Will Set Time and Place.

Louisville, Ky., April 3.—Chairman C. M. Barnett, of the republican state central committee, has decided to call the committee meeting April 11. It will select the time and place of the state convention, which will probably be Louisville, May 11.

THE SUCCESS OF THE CENTURY.

Our theater-goers will have opportunity to see Charles Frohman's production of "The Little Minister" at the Washington Opera-house Saturday, April 7th. That they are going to take advantage of the opportunity is shown by the large interest already shown, not only from the amount of business that will be done, but from a social point of view. Everyone is familiar with the works of the famous novelist, J. M. Barrie, and all will be anxious to see "The Little Minister" founded on his famous novel of that name. The record of this most talked of play is one to be proud of; 300 nights in New York to audiences that packed the theater to the doors at the first performance is a record that will stand for a long time. Since the play left New York the business has been marvelous; immense audiences have greeted it everywhere. Charles Frohman with his usual liberality has given it, we are told, a splendid cast with Miss Grace Hoyer as Lady Lyndal, and company included four of the original cast, and produces it in a manner that leaves nothing to be desired.

ANOTHER BOMB BURSTS!

A Frankfort "Criminal Lawyer" Strikes a Big Snag.

In their "enthusiasm" to hang somebody for the murder of Goebel, and incidentally to pocket a part of that $100,000 to be provided by the overburdened taxpayers of Kentucky, the "criminal lawyers" are bending every effort—without much care for moral ethics.

The recent "interview" held by Judge James Andrew Scott of Frankfort with Banker N. H. Witherspoon of Winchester shows the extremity to which the Goebellites are driven in their efforts to bolster up their fast-fading cause.

The "interview" and subsequent facts are given below, as embodied in dispatches from Winchester on March 30—

SCOTT'S OFFER TO BRIDE.

"If Youtsey will tell what I think he knows he can hang Taylor and damn the Republican party. I feel sure that I can arrange for enough of the appropriation for Youtsey to make him and his wife comfortable for the rest of their lives. Culton is going to confess in the morning, and Youtsey had better get in while he can. The money is going and he might as well have his share," said Judge James Andrew Scott at the Rees House Monday night. He was addressing N. H. Witherspoon and Judge C. S. French, respectively the brother-in-law and father-in-law of H. E. Youtsey. Scott had telephoned Witherspoon early yesterday afternoon, "Meet me at the Rees House on the night," and he had been promptly met.

Judge French was later called in as the head of the family, who should be consulted in a matter of such importance. The party stayed in consultation until midnight. Scott insisting that Youtsey should confess and make himself rich, while the others listened passively and replied, "Youtsey has told all he knows and can say nothing more."

Scott dwelt on the point that Culton would confess next day, and unless Youtsey hastened to get in his story first the other man would get away with the money, but through it all neither Witherspoon nor Judge French would accede to the request of Scott to go to Frankfort and advise Youtsey to tell a story which would hang Taylor and damn the Republican party.

Scott evidently threw caution to the winds, and disclosed that the accused were being played against one another and that a confession must hang Taylor before the proper reward would follow. Scott stated during the conversation that Youtsey would have to leave the state on account of the feeling which would be aroused, but that he would have money to sweeten his exile.

The story was told freely upon the streets here yesterday, and Mr. Witherspoon was seen by your correspondent today and asked to confirm the rumor. "Did you see Justus Goebel on your visit to Frankfort some two weeks ago?" was asked.

"Yes. I received a telephone message from Mr. Goebel asking me to come to Frankfort at once, as he had important revelations to make. I replied that I would come, and arrived in Frankfort the same afternoon. I went at once to the Capital Hotel, and met Messrs. Arthur and Justus Goebel. Justus Goebel took me into a private room and told him that within the last forty-eight hours he had ascertained facts tending to connect Youtsey with Goebel's assassination. He then explained what he knew of Youtsey's conduct about the time of the shooting. He said Youtsey had run through the basement of the Executive Building and out at the rear door, holding his legs as if crippled, and had half circled the building and ran into the Governor's office.

YOUTSEY'S STORY.

"After he had made this statement I went to see Youtsey. Youtsey's account exactly tallied with Goebel's statement of Youtsey's actions. Youtsey added, however, that he had worn a revolver in the waist of his trousers, and that the weapon had slipped down his pants leg, just as he came out of the building. He bent over and clutched the weapon, in this position, and bent over, ran into the Governor's office.

"I explained that Youtsey had told me he was about half-way down the basement steps when the first shot was fired, and gave Youtsey's explanation of why he wanted to the basement. The explanation seemed entirely satisfactory to Goebel. My talk with Goebel after I had seen Youtsey was very pleasant. He assured me that he was satisfied that Youtsey had no connection with his brother's assassination, but said that Youtsey, on account of his position, must know things that should be told.

"He said nothing further should be done concerning Youtsey without notifying me. James Andrew Scott came in about this time and said it was at his instance that I was called to Frankfort. Goebel turned to Scott and said: 'I hope you understand, Mr. Scott, that I do not want to press that matter further against the boy.' As I left the room, Goebel waved his hand, saying: 'You can depend on what I said.' I saw Youtsey later and assured him that he could rely on Goebel's word."

"Did you afterward have any communication with Mr. Goebel or any one of his representatives?" was asked.

TALK WITH SCOTT.

"On last Monday night I received a telephone message from Scott, 'Meet me at the Rees House on the night.'"

"I met Scott there, and after hearing details thought it best to call in Judge French, father-in-law of Youtsey. Judge French came at once. Scott told us that he had some conversation with Youtsey, and was satisfied that if he wished he could give such information as would hang Taylor and damn the Republican party forever."

"He told us he was in a position to save Youtsey if he made a full confession, and wanted me to go to Frankfort and advise Youtsey to tell."

"I feel sure" Scott said to us, "that I can arrange to secure him enough money out of the appropriation to keep him and his wife comfortable all the rest of their lives;" he continued, "you might not think this right, but I am satisfied that Culton will confess in the morning. I can, however, send a telegram and hold matters until we can get to Frankfort. This money is going anyhow, and there is no reason why Youtsey should not get his share."

"I said that Youtsey had told all he knew, and that in my conversation with Goebel he had offered to bring Youtsey in and let him be questioned. I said I did not see how Youtsey could furnish the information wanted, and that not for ten times $100,000 would I have him perjure himself."

"Scott remarked as we passed out: 'I venture you gentlemen will reconsider this matter and meet me at the train tomorrow.'"

"I heard nothing more until the next morning, when news reached me that Youtsey had been arrested. This was a great surprise, as I had Goebel's statement that I would be given notice of any such action."

"Do you care to express yourself as to Youtsey's innocence?"

"I quite agree with Goebel when he said, 'I know every step that Youtsey took, and do not believe he had any connection whatever with my brother's assassination.'"

"Did Scott seem to lay much stress on the money?"

"Mr. Scott was very vigorous in asserting that the course he had mapped out was the proper one, and seemed particularly insistent on the fact that Youtsey would be made comfortable for life. I would say that Scott claimed from the beginning to the end he was acting as Youtsey's friend."

Mr. Witherspoon is President of the Winchester Bank, a prominent citizen, a supporter of Goebel, and Scott's political friend. Judge French was for thirty years attorney at the local bar, has been County Judge, and is highly respected.

The Best Remedy for Rheumatism.

gives instant relief. The food is made up of all the best ingredients. All who use Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism are delighted with the quick relief from pain which it affords. When speaking of the Dr. J. N. Hicks, of Troy, Ohio, says: "Some time ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism in my arm and shoulder. I tried numerous remedies, but got no relief until I was recommended by Messrs. Geo. F. Parsons & Co., Druggists of this place, to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. They recommended it highly that I bought a bottle. I used some of it and in a few minutes the pain was relieved. I have since recommended this liniment to many of my friends, who agree with me that it is the best remedy for muscular rheumatism in the market." For sale by J. Jas. Wood & Son, Druggists.
